

Summer Holidays —

Tisha B'Av

Tisha B'Av, the ninth day of the Jewish month of Av, is a day of mourning that commemorates the destruction of the first and second Temples in Jerusalem and the beginning of the Jewish exile from the land of Israel. Other catastrophes also associated with Tisha B'Av are the suppression of the Bar Kochba rebellion (135 C.E.) and the expulsion of the Jews from England (1290 C.E.) and Spain (1492 C.E.). Traditionally, Tisha B'Av is marked with a day of fasting and mourning. CSZ will observe the holiday of Tisha B'Av on Saturday, July 28 at 7 pm.

Tu B'Av

Tu B'Av, the fifteenth day of the month of Av, is a joyous midsummer festival in direct contrast to Tisha B'Av. The Talmud states, "There are no days as festive to Israel as those of Yom Kippur and the 15th of Av. The daughters of Israel used to dress in white and go out to the fields to dance..." (Ta'anit 4:8). This minor holiday serves as a transition to move us from the mourning of Tisha B'Av to the renewal of Elul and the New Year. This year, Tu B'Av falls on Saturday, August 4. All CSZ members are invited to mark this festival of love and redemption by wearing all white at our regular Friday evening service on August 3.

High Holidays 5762 —

It is only July, yet we are looking forward to, and planning for, the coming High Holidays. This year we will continue to use the Herbst Theater for the majority of High Holiday services.

A High Holiday packet containing information on services, tickets, children's programming, childcare and classes will be mailed to all CSZ members in mid-summer. Non-CSZ members who would like to join us for the holidays are invited to contact the office after August 1 in order to request a High Holiday packet.

We encourage members of the congregation to participate in our services. If you would like to chant from the Torah, sing with the Ensemble, lead a reading or sound the shofar, please let us know by filling out the enclosed form and returning it to the CSZ office by July 20. A schedule for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur appears in the box to the right.

High Holiday services at Congregation Sha'ar Zahav also require an enormous amount of volunteer effort in the areas of logistics, greeting, ushering, oneg, break fast, children's programming and discussion groups. Please consider beginning the new year with the mitzvah of helping in one of these areas. If you can offer an hour or two, contact Lea Salem in the CSZ office at lsalem@shaarzahav.org or at 415/861-6932.

Tisha B'Av and The Book of Lamentations —

Taught by Rebecca Guterman

Rebecca Guterman is a third-year rabbinical student at Hebrew Union College in New York, who brings her passion for writing, performance and teaching to this work. While living in the Bay Area after college, she studied with A Traveling Jewish Theatre (ATJT) and BRAVA! for Women in the Arts. This summer she returns to San Francisco to participate in ATJT's Apprenticeship Company. Rebecca is excited to have the privilege of working with CSZ this summer, having first been introduced to the community 15 years ago through her family, Bob Guterman and Paul Cohen.

Rebecca will be conducting a 3-session course on themes in the Book of Lamentations in preparation for Tisha B'Av. In particular we'll explore the tradition and value of communal mourning within Judaism.

Dates: Tuesdays, July 17, 24 and 31

Time: 7-8:30 pm

Cost: Members: Free /

Non-Members: $10 per class

Please contact CSZ Program Director, Dahlia Gross at cszdahlia@yahoo.com or 415/575-4961 to reserve your spot.

Please Be in Touch With Me

I am eager to be in touch with all members of the CSZ family whenever there are occasions of joy or sadness in your lives. When there is a death in the family, please call me as soon as possible. We very much want to be there with you at a time of grief.

Rabbi Angel

Can you think of someone you can't stand? How do you treat that person? Our Torah offers us some guidelines in one of my favorite summer Torah portions, the Parasha of Balak. In the story, we meet Balak, the King of the Moabites, who desires to place a curse upon the Israelites and drive them out from the land. In order to fulfill his intention, Balak calls upon the wicked prophet Bilaam and his amazing talking donkey.

Bilaam is described in Talmudic literature as being jealous, arrogant and greedy. Moreover, the Talmud accuses him of bestiality. Apparently his donkey was more than a vehicle used by day. By night, the rabbis imagined the donkey as an object of sexual pleasure.

Nevertheless, the Torah indicates how solicitous God was of the honor of Bilaam, a despicable person who wanted to curse the Jewish people. The donkey, who refused to do his master's bidding and who spoke - miraculously - to the heathen prophet Bilaam, this donkey was then killed by God.

So, why was the donkey killed? What had it done to deserve death? Rabbi Chaim Shmulevitz, the great Mussar teacher of the Mirrer Yeshiva in Jerusalem, explains that God killed the donkey because had the donkey lived, it would have been a reminder of Bilaam's weakness and failure. The donkey was killed to preserve Bilaam's honor.

Similarly, the Torah has a very strange rule regarding a person who commits bestiality. The person is liable for the death penalty and so is the animal. The Talmud asks: "If the person sinned, where did the animal sin?" The animal has no free will. It cannot be presumed to have sinned." The Talmud answers: "The animal is killed so that it should not pass through the marketplace and people will say this is the animal responsible for that person's failure."

CSZ Celebrates Kol Yad Success

Members and friends of Sha'ar Zahav gathered on Sunday, June 3 to celebrate the beginning of a new tradition in the congregation: The Kol Yad (Every Hand) Fundraising Campaign.

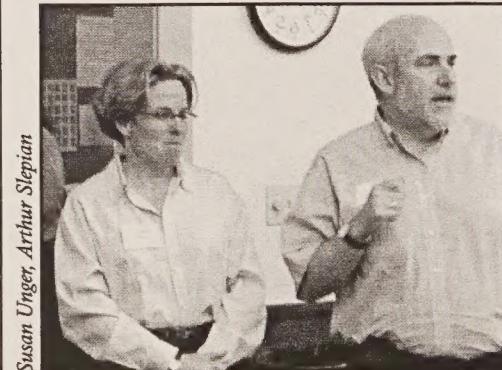

Ron Edelman, Sara Haber, Lisa Katz, Nicole Bloom, Beth Sousa

Drew Parker-Rose, Lisa Katz, Richard Werner,
Marc Wernick, Ami Zusman, Sara Haber

In this inaugural year of the Kol Yad campaign, in which members and friends were invited to pledge the equivalent of one day of work, more than 70 members (and several non-members) have already responded, demonstrating their generosity by pledging a total of over $14,600. (A complete list of Kol Yad donors through June 3 appears on page 11) This means that we have already achieved 97.5% of our ambitious $15,000 fundraising goal for this inaugural campaign, and pledges continue to come in. We fully expect to exceed our goal, and it is not too late for you to help. If you have not yet pledged, there is still time: Kol Yad pledges for this year will be accepted until the end of June.

Part of what has made Kol Yad a success is the way in which donors can personalize their pledge. On the Kol

Susan Unger, Arthur Slepian

Yad pledge form, donors were asked to describe their pledge. Here is a sample of what was sent in:

- One member, a teacher, wrote, "School is out on Friday, but I'll be getting paid for that day anyway, so I'll be pledging that day of pay to Kol Yad. And I'll be spending the day at a retreat for Jews involved with social justice."
- Another member wrote, "I'll work an extra evening shift at the store to fund my Kol Yad pledge."
- A non-member submitted the following: "I'd been thinking for a while about how fortunate I am, and how I'd like to share my good fortune by donating a day's pay to an organization or cause in need. Then I came to services at Sha'ar Zahav and saw the Kol Yad flyer, and I knew this was 'bashert'."

Leslie Kane, Michael Sarid

At the Kol Yad celebration, attendees enjoyed good food and singing led by Michael Sarid and Leslie Kane. Arthur Slepian and Susan Unger of the Fundraising Committee thanked all the Kol Yad donors for the wonderful outpouring of generosity that the program has generated in its first year.

Singles Mingle With a Twinkle

Close to seventy single GLBT Jews recently noshed and schmoozed at the home of Howard Steiermann during "Havdalah Under the Stars: Meet That Special Someone With a Twinkle in Their Eye."

This event was very different than the "100 Dates in One Night," but equally fun. "We are trying hard to make CSZ events more haimish (welcoming) and hip than the dreadful singles events we all heard about growing up," noted Marc Wernick, the self-appointed shadchan (matchmaker) of CSZ. Co-organizer Rob Daroff noted that the event was particularly successful at helping to form friendships and camaraderie for future events. In fact, Ann Aptaker designed a survey to help gauge the interest in future events, and the response has been overwhelmingly positive.

The synagogue will be planning future Jewish GLBT singles events, including the next "100 Dates In One Night." "Regardless of whether you volunteer to plan the event or help with set-up, clean-up or other event details, volunteering has obvious 'special advantages' in this case," notes Program Director Dahlia Gross. If you would like to become more involved with the nascent Singles Havurah, please contact Dahlia at the CSZ office.

In addition to the people noted above who planned the event, CSZ would like to thank Alan Gordon for leading the short and sweet Havdalah service and Richard Brand for helping with set-up and clean-up.

Israel GLBT leader looks forward to a "reclaiming" of Judaism

By Jake Wirtschafter

The worsening situation in Israel is already having an impact on the resources available to the Association of Gay Men, Lesbians, Bisexuals and Transgender People (the Aguda), according to the organization's chairman, Etai Pinkas.

In an interview with the Gaily Forward conducted on the same day as the terrorist attack on the disco at Tel Aviv's Dolphinarium killing 20 Israeli teenagers, Pinkas described how the shift in Israel's state budget away from localized spending on social welfare towards military priorities has already hit the organization. But even with reduced resources, he said, "We are going forward with an event for Gay Pride Day that is dedicated to gathering Palestinian and Israeli queer activists."

The make-up of the current Israeli government, heavily dependent on coalition partners from the Orthodox political parties, threatens to further undermine the Aguda's aims of mainstreaming the organization's goals of providing support for GLBT youth and expanding AIDS education. Despite the harsh political climate however, the Aguda is forging ahead with a program of outreach and support that extends to the "Other Israel" beyond gay-friendly Tel Aviv.

"Our emphasis in new programs is on places like Be'er Sheva and Kiryat Shemona. We need to give these young people an alternative place where it is less difficult to be gay or lesbian. Many of the young people in the periphery are the children of Russian and Ethiopian immigrants. We are expanding our informational material in Russian and starting new youth groups for first-generation Israelis," Pinkas said.

When informed that members of Sha'ar Zahav were looking for new ways to engage the congregation with the lives of GLBT people in Israel, Pinkas stated that this would mean much to the leadership of the Aguda.

"We were so impressed by our visit to your congregation," he said. "We met your rabbi on the High Holidays and we couldn't believe that such a rabbi existed!"

"We said to ourselves that we would like to explore creating a kind of Sha'ar Zahav experience here. It is time for GLBT people here to reclaim Judaism for themselves and we think you are the people who can help us do this the best," Pinkas continued.

"We need your financial support. But we would also like very much that the next time a delegation of GLBT people from San Francisco comes here, Rabbi Angel can be on the trip and lead services here."

You will soon be receiving information from CSZ as to how you can support the Aguda by becoming an International Member. In the meantime, if you have any questions or would like further information on the Aguda, please contact me at sfjake@hotmail.com. Also, please consider joining CSZ's Israel Havurah. Our next meeting will be on Tuesday, July 24, 6:30 pm at CSZ.

Relaxation & Revelation: Sha'ar Zahav Pre-Shavuot Family Retreat

The drive through the rolling green hills of Petaluma on the way to the Relaxation & Revelation Sha'ar Zahav Pre-Shavuot Family Retreat was marked with singing, excitement, laughter, sightings of hawks, cows, horses, a rabbit, sun, wind and winding roads. But the real fun began as more and more families began converging at the dining hall for an amazing weekend celebrating Shabbat and building community together.

Later in the day, families could be found making glorious tie-dye shirts, playing softball, navigating a ropes course, snoozing, talking, playing and everyone's favorite... water balloons with the rabbi! Throughout the late afternoon, tots made body tracings and a stuffed "Mt. Sinai" in a project with Jeni and Dafna; Kadimah-age kids studied the Book of Ruth with Phyllis and Riqi, and did an improv play called "The Wedding" about the many mar-

Close to 80 Sha'ar Zahavniks, 25 of them children, tots and babies, came to Walker Creek Ranch on May 18-20.

Kids and adults mixed for activities all weekend. On Friday we had a late night of Kabbalat Shabbat services that blended people, bingo, Israeli dancing, a late-night hike, guacamole-making and sweet dreams. On Saturday morning, families gathered for an outdoor hiking service, with stops along the way for singing and praying, "Modah ani l'fanecha" alongside baby lambs, "Brucha sh'amrah" on a wooden bridge over the creek, "Sh'ma" rounds in a sandy embankment and a silent prayer walk for the Amidah, until we climbed "Mt. Sinai" for an amazing view and rested after such a

We all enjoyed a beautiful Havdalah under the stars, and a campfire full of singing, guitar playing, stories and the long-awaited s'mores.

Later, with kids tucked in, adults could be found eating chocolate fondue and shmoozing into the night. The morning came, and with it, delicious blintzes for breakfast (traditional for Sha-

The weekend culminated in a family education art project where we made a copper Torah breast-plate to decorate our Torah back at Sha'ar Zahav. The breast-plate is a stunning representation of the 12 sons and the daughter of Jacob, inspired by what people saw on the weekend.

The committee of Ora Prochovnik, Ilana Bernstein, Dafna Wu, Jeni Markowitz and Riqi Kosovske want to thank the following people who shlepped, prepared and contributed many gifts of the heart throughout the weekend: Dev Felder Noily, Tiela Chalmers, Howard Herman, Sarita Grotisser, Hershey Hirschkop, Nicole Bloom, Sue Swigart, Tamar Gershon, Phyllis Mintzer, Fran Frohlich, Greta Miskatel, Deirdre Bernard-Pearl, Barbara Cymrot, Kathy McHenry, Lisa Katz, Carolyn Pines, Debbie Carr, Karen Segal and Rabbi Camille Shira Angel as well as all the children and adults who participated!

This month we honor Karen Schiller. While many might not know Karen by sight, we all know of Karen by her contribution to the synagogue. She is the chair of The Jewish Gaily Forward Newsletter Committee and has served as the co-chair for the High Holiday Usher Committee. She also helped the Finance Committee with their recent changeover to a new accounting system.

Outside of the synagogue, Karen consults with non-profit agencies in the area of accounting and finance. She has volunteered for the past 10 years as a board member at San Francisco Women Against Rape, helping to shape the transformation of this group from a small collectively-run organization with three part-time staff members to a mid-size, majority-women-of-color non-profit with 13 staff members.

Karen also brings a wealth of experience with community publications. She has been an editor of various feminist newspapers and journals, including Plexus and The Jewish Women's Newsletter. She lives with her three cats and a snake in Noe Valley.

Please join me in wishing Karen a Yasher Koach. We thank Karen for her continued and tireless hard work, dedication and leadership.

In the following interview, Karen shares her thoughts on the synagogue:

TGF: Karen, when did you join the synagogue?

Karen: I joined CSZ about five years ago. I had been coming to High Holiday services for years, and one year was really touched by Rabbi Kahn's sermon. I thought to myself, "I should become a part of this place." I had not been a tremendously spiritual person and thought that by joining the synagogue it would all come together – that I might find religion.

TGF: And did you?

Karen: Well, not yet. I am still exploring the religious side of CSZ. I really enjoyed Phyllis Mintzer's class, Prayerbook Hebrew. I figured that if I understood more of the language, the prayers would mean more. It was fun to hang out and study with people of all backgrounds and comfort with Judaism in such a relaxed and supportive environment.

TGF: How did you get involved in the synagogue?

Karen: Batya Kaylis and Rose Katz hit me up to join the Newsletter Committee as soon as I signed up; I don't think the ink was dry on my membership application. I became involved with both the High Holiday Usher Committee and the Finance Committee because of Lea Salem, our synagogue administrator. Lea and I were chatting one day and she asked me what I did for a living. She put two and two together and asked me to help the synagogue in areas that were familiar to me professionally.

TGF: What is your vision for the newsletter?

Karen: The newsletter should continue to be readable and enjoyable. We hope that the calendar will be posted on everyone's bulletin board or fridge.

We are one of the communication vehicles for the synagogue. So if you are a committee chair, planning an event for the shul or working on a synagogue project, let the newsletter committee know what is up. If you don't know how to best express it, we can help.

TGF: What is your greatest sources of satisfaction from volunteering at CSZ?

Karen: By working on the newsletter, you get to know a lot about what is going on at the synagogue. You work with the Va'ad and the staff; you learn what decisions are coming down and what's behind the articles that are being written. You learn who's in charge and how decisions are made. I feel as if I know a lot about what's going on.

Also, I am very proud of the praise that we receive for the newsletter from people across the country. The newsletter is the public face of CSZ, one of our most important marketing tools. I am glad to be part of the team, along with Judith Cohen, Marjorie Hilsenrad, Brian Jersky, Rose Katz, Joey Rozier, David Stein and everyone else who has worked on the committee over the years, as well as Kerri Schiff, our graphic designer. We have an amazing esprit de corps at the meetings.

Are you inspired by Karen's involvement? Here are some highlights of the ways for you to share your talents and love with the community:

- Don't Wait To Be Asked. Anyone is welcome to join (almost) any committee, including Ritual. Check out the newsletter masthead on page 10 for a complete list of committees and then contact the chairpeople listed to volunteer your services.
- Give Everyone a Big Hug. Our Kesher (Connection) Committee needs members who are available to act as greeters at services. This is a great, time-limited way to contribute to our congregation - especially if you've wanted to get to know other congregants. New members especially welcome. Call Marianne Balin at 510/655-8969 to learn more.
- Are you the Jewish Martha Stewart? The Sha'ar Zahav Post-Yom Kippur Break Fast needs a new co-chair. Past co-chairs Deborah Udin and Jeff Sherman are certainly ready to advise and help, but fresh ideas and your flair are needed to coordinate this fabulous event. Contact Deborah at 415/ 334-0441, Deudin@aol.com.
- Want to know synagogue happenings before your friends? Sign up for the newly-created "Haimish Hotline." Volunteers for the Haimish Hotline will contact 5 - 10 synagogue members every month or two to let them know of upcoming events and programs and to encourage them to volunteer to help. Contact Dahlia Gross at 415/575-4961, CSZDahlia@yahoo.com to sign up.

If you have suggestions for a "Davener & Doer," please contact Marc Wernick (415/928-7883, mhwernick@aol.com).

We work hard, but we have a good time; we enjoy the process of editing - discussing semicolons, arm-wrestling over Yiddish transliterations... During our monthly meetings, we joke, we dish and we work.

TGF: What words of advice would you give to people who want to become more active in the synagogue but are not sure what the first step is?

Karen: Well, how are your writing and editing skills? Seriously, find something that you want to do, then pick up the phone or send an email. People at Sha'ar Zahav are really accessible. You'll be amazed at how much your work will be appreciated; people here often go out of their way to say "thank you."

Rabbi's Column

What a significant lesson! We are commanded to preserve the honor even of the person who is abhorrent to us, who behaves in a manner which infuriates us. Why? Simply because that person also is created in God's image and the mitzvah of kavod hab'rivot (honor to all creations) applies to him or her as well.

It isn't difficult to honor those whom we love or with whom we agree. It is a challenge, however, to honor those whom we can't stand or with whom we disagree strongly. This challenge is important to us in our personal lives and in the national life of the people of Israel both here and in the State of Israel. It is a particularly worthwhile challenge to bear in mind as we enter into the period of the Three Weeks leading to Tisha B'Av, the mourning of the destruction of the Temple, which tradition teaches was destroyed because of unwarranted hatred of one Jew toward another.

It is a tenuous time for us as Jews; a vicious time on the world scene and we are trying to navigate through wicked prophets and talking donkeys. It is a time for deep contemplation; it is a partial mourning period. For me, it was the first time in my rabbinic career that I advised a congregant not to send her teenage daughter to Israel this summer. This was a most difficult choice. May we pray for peace and the end to all this killing. May the summer which ends with Elul, our season of renewal, be one of healing!

Sponsor an Oneg Shabbat!

Sponsoring the oneg Shabbat following services is a lovely way to commemorate a special occasion. Onegs can be sponsored in honor of a simcha, as a tribute to the memory of a loved one or "just because." The cost is $80-$120 and we have a number of available dates in the coming months. Please call the CSZ office if you would like to inquire about sponsoring an oneg Shabbat on a specific date or would like more information.

How To Get To And From Sha'ar Zahav Without Driving (Yourself Crazy!)

by Lisa Ochs

As many of you know, our synagogue is located in what might be called a spatially-challenged neighborhood. Parking is tight, taxis are elusive and you may sometimes wish you could just click your ruby slippers together and magically zoom from home to CSZ and back. Although I can't solve all your transportation woes, I hope to offer you some alternatives and perhaps make your Friday evening and Saturday morning synagogue treks a little easier and less stressful.

Public Transit

Sha'ar Zahav is located at the crossroads of many BART and MUNI lines. Bicycles can be taken on BART as long as they are not blocking entrances. We are within easy walking distance of the 16th Street Mission BART Station, the Castro Street MUNI Station, the

Naches

To Eileen Levy on her appointment as Director of the School of Social Work at San Francisco State University.

To Gail Ludwig on her new position as Regional Director of Planned Giving for Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

To Sharyn Saslafsky on her new position as Director of Marketing and Communications at the San Francisco Jewish Community Center.

To Katy Gulley on graduating from Bard College with honors, co-president of her class.

To Avraham Giannini, Prudence Carter, Laura Lowe, Clarissa Kripke and Bruce Kapsack on their becoming B'nei Mitzvah.

To Nicole Bloom on her acceptance to a clinical pastoral education residency at Alta Bates Hospital.

To David Stein on his new position as Executive Director of Beth Israel-Judeah.

To Shelley M. Samuels and Robin A. Dubner on their 10th anniversary.

To Larry Kaplun on his new position as Street Outreach Counselor at Larkin Street Youth Center.

To Riqi Kosovske on being accepted to Rabbinical school.

Church Street MUNI Station, the F-Market Streetcar and many bus lines, including the 33-Stanyan and 22-Fillmore. The 22-Fillmore is particularly convenient: it drops you off right across 16th Street from the synagogue and it runs approximately every ten minutes. If you want information on how to use MUNI to get to synagogue, call 673-MUNI. Give the operator your starting point and your destination and s/he will tell you the easiest route to travel. The office has a MUNI map and can also give you public transit directions. If you take BART to Friday evening services, you can arrange to walk back to the station with others after services.

Taxis

Taxis are notoriously difficult to obtain in San Francisco on Friday evenings. However, one of the few places in the city where they can be easily hailed is on Castro Street, several blocks west of the synagogue. If a group of members would like to walk up to Castro Street together, you will certainly find a cruising taxi eager to whisk you away

(as well as cruising humans, also eager to whisk you away).

Carpooling

If you would like to arrange a carpool and want names and phone numbers of other synagogue members who live in your neighborhood, please call Lea or Melanie at the synagogue office and they will be very happy to put you in touch.

Bikes, Scooters, Motorcycles

These are other ways people manage to get around the crowded Mission. Parking for two-wheeled vehicles is relatively easy and you may even find an extra helmet in the CSZ lost and found!

If worse comes to worst and you simply cannot drive, bike, scoot, skateboard, MUNI, BART, taxi or carpool to services, don't despair! Call the office and the staff will do their best to get you a ride. And it can't hurt to invest in a pair of ruby slippers. If they don't get you to synagogue, they may win you a prize at Purim.
